The President doubts, it was added, that any informed authorities of other countries would think of making any such suggestion.

As for reports that the West schedules, especially on agricultural total ballots cast in favor of the products in the Congress to be elected in November, it was said Mr. Coolidge had heard little, if any, comment on that question from visitors at White Pine camp, many of whom recently have discussed the farm situation with him.

The President, it was added, had read the views of Senator Capper (Republican), Kansas, as set forth at the summer White House, predicting that the agricultural West would move for such a revision, but the senator did not discuss the subject with Mr. Coolidge.

A mounted marine, an unusual spectacle in Washington, yesterday helped determine the width of the bridle path along the Tital basin in Petomac park. Maj. U. S. buildings will be available, with accommodations for approximately 2,000 students, but eight of these

There was an enrollment of approximately 67,000 pupils at the outset of the last term, and to accommodate them in quarters such as were available it was necessary.

The increase in last year's en-rollment over that of the preceding year was 1,737 students, which if followed by a similar increase this year would relieve the normal con-cestion to the wint of only about gestion to the extent of only about 263 students. shadowed by developments tonight at the summer White House, White

Martin B. Madden, of Chicago, Martin B. Madden, of Chicago, chairman of the appropriation committee of the House of Representatives, arrived late this afternoon with figures setting forth Uncle Sam's income and expenses, past, Sam's income and expenses, past, present and prospective.

After supper President Coolidge and Representative Madden settled themselves before a log fire and pored over the sheets of figures to determine how much the government can afford to expend in the fiscal year of 1928 and still lay something by for a rainy day.

Then it transpired that the astute appropriations chairman had brought with him a new little plan for the further reduction of Federal taxes in 1928.

Interest Paid on War Debts.

Mr. Madden called the attention of the President to an item of in-come on one of his sheets of figures: Payment of interest by for eign nations on war debts, amount-to $150,000,000 a year at this time. This interest payment, which is steadily increasing, is being devoted by Secretary of the Treasury Mel-lon to the retirement of liberty

Mr. Mellon is doing this arbi-trarily, without the express direc-tion of statute. The law merely pre-scribes that the payments on the principal of the war debts shall be devoted to retirement of our debt. The payments on principal now aggregate about $50,000,000 a year.

Mr. Madden pointed out that the $150,000,000 of war debt interest an be used under the law to pay current expenses of the government instead of to retire Liberty bonds. If it were so used, the government would not need to raise that amount of revenue and could re-duce taxes to that extent.

Would End U. S. Debt in 20 Years

Whether it is wise to continue the present practice was a question raised by Mr. Madden. He showed the President how our national debt, exclusive of the amount owed us by Europe, will be discharged in about 20 years if we continue to In about 20 years if we continue to use interest as well as principal payments to retire Liberty bonds. It will not be many years before the interest payments by Europe will aggregate $360,000,000. After our debt is liquidated these huge foreign interest payments will pile up in the Treasury, constituting a temptation to Congress to expend extravagantly and causing our debtors to rise and inquire why they should continue to pay a creditor with an overflowing Treasury. Mr. Madden suggested that a wiser course would be to postpone

"The economy program of the administration," said Mr. Madden, "has produced far-reaching results, among which the payment of more than $6.000,000,000 of the public debt, the $1,750,000,000 annual reductions in taxes, $250,000,000 annual reduction in interest on the public debt are notable achievements, and it must not be forgotten that while this process of stabilization has been going on more than $3,000,000,000,000 have been expended

Another considerable reduction of Federal income taxes, possibly to the extent of $400,000,000, is foreshadowed by developments tonight.

Meanwhile, however, reports from Meanwhile, however, reports from Geneva reaching here through diplomatic channels and through press dispatches show that the league powers already are planning their initial maneuvers to deal with the American reservations in such manner as serves their own interests. Complications loom even in advance of the projected meeting for September 1.

According to latest dispatches, the first move of the league conference with respect to the American reservations will be to discuss them with a view to arriving at a European or league interpretation of what the reservations mean. It is indicated that if this interpretation can be agreed upon by the powers represented, America then will be asked if she agrees to the terpretation.

By Albert W. Fox.

President Coolidge's intimation that he can not believe that the nations of Europe will attempt to wrest economic concessions from the United States as a price for acceptance of the American reservations to the world court protocol is regarded here as particularly timely.

It serves notice on the powers that America is not ready to bargain or pay a price for being permitted to join the court. The notice comes from the President in such manner as to insure world wide publicity and comes on the even of the League of Nations meeting at Geneva, when the league powers will decide their course of action with respect to the American reservations.

Meanwhile, however, reports from Meanwhile, however, reports from the tool of the court in any case where a sumbiling block at the start. It is hinted that some of the Latin-American countries refuse even to consider this reservation on the ground that they could not be advantages in connection with the reservations would not be worthy of the name to contain would not be worthy of the name is connection with the reservations would not be worthy of the name is connection with the reservation of the tase into account powers should get together and consider America's pleat the this the powers should get together and consider America's pleat the the first time is the fifth reservations would not be admitted with the reservations would not be worthy of the name is connection with the reservations would not be worthy of the n the Latin-American countries reservation on the ground that they could never accept it without placing themselves in a position of inferiority with respect to the United States. This is understood to account for the fact that several of the court members referse everal to attend the Geneva morning in a hospital where her that several of the court members refuse even to attend the Geneva conference.

If there appears to be any prospect of rounding up the powers in favor of accepting the reservations, the question of the quid pro quo or the price America will be willing to pay, it is explained, will be the controlling factor. Whether it will be tariff or loans or debts or something else will depend on the course of lse will depend on the course of else will depend on the course of events when the league conference meets at Geneva.

The few nations which so far have accepted the reservations have either had loans from the United States or are expecting them. Other nations which have not accepted in some instances may be inclined favorably, it is understood, provided their particular wishes regarding loans find indorsement by the government of the United States.

Diplomats understand that cerernment of the United States.

Diplomats understand that certain of the nations, in any event, are going to hold aloof from consideration of the American reservations until they see how the plans of the league shape up respecting America's bid for membership with the reservations. The smallest nation which has ratified the protocol has a world of power in its hands if it holds aloof, it is explained, because it may have the controlling voice as to whether America is to come in or here. to whether America is to come in or to be kept out.

If all but one nation should accept the reservations that one nation should accept the reservations that one nations and plant the reservations that one nations are supported in the support of the support of the joint work of the treaty-makling power or, in other words, the President and the Senate. Any interpretation which Europe seeks to put upon the Senate's reservations can not be accepted unless or until the Senate agrees to such interpretation, it is pointed out. The executive branch of the government can not come to an agreement with the League of Nations or any group of foreign powers as to what the United States meant when it insisted upon the reservations. Thus, the probable first move of the court powers at the coming league conference over the reservations forecasts difficulties, it is admitted.

That President Coolidge's timely statement respecting reported plans of the European nations to bargain over the reservations will have an effect at Geneva is regarded here as beyond question. But it also is beyond question that plans to bargain and, if possible, extract concessions from the United States as a quid pro quo for acceptance of the reservations already are going on and have been for some time. Diplomats ex-

Come Early for Best Selections

FROM the Walker Hill cooling station at Frederick, Md., four glass-lined tank trucks make the round trip of 100 miles every day, winter and summer, bringing to Washington Simpson's milk, fresh and ICE-COLD.

With courteous drivers, regular schedules and spotless equipment this Walker Hill Dairy train is known all along its route as the "Milky Way Express."

To operate reliable and regular schedules with heavy trucks carrying 2,000 gallons of milk-over the hilly road from Frederick requires the fullest power and dependability from every truck. No detail can be overlooked that might reduce the efficiency of the motor. Even the motor fuel must be carefully chosen. Mr. W. A. Simpson, proprietor, Walker Hill Dairy, insists on ESSO-the new "Standard" Motor Fuel. He has found from experience that it develops the greatest power, and keeps his engines free from carbon trouble.

Thousands of Washington motorists, too, are using ESSO exclusively. With it they are getting more satisfaction, larger mileage, quicker pick-up, greater power. If you are one of the few who does not know what ESSO will do for your motor—test it yourself. Try a tankful today.

What consistent use of ESSO gives

1. All your motor's power-and no knocks 2. Greater flexibility-less gear shifting

3. Freedom from use of choke-no crank case dilution

4. Quick starting—lightning fast

5. Instant pick-up-quick as a cat 6. Speed and pull for the long, hard hills 7 New and longer life to the engine

PUBLIC MARKETS.

In the days before cable-drawn street cars superseded horses and before the installation of the first electric line, when the housewife made triweekly trips to purchase the family supplies and small boys haunted the street corners and car-stops awaiting a chance to "carry-yer basket, Missis," for a dime, public markets were established in different sections of this city. There was one on Mount Vernon square, the present site of the Carnegie library, which vanished completely one Sunday There was not a judge in the District of Co lumbia during that Sabbath day, because Gov Alexander Shepherd had invited the entire bench to spend the week-end at his country place over the District line in Maryland. The governor was determined to rid the square of the unsightly market stalls, and his house party effectually prevented the issuance of an injunction during the short time required by his men, who started at midnight, to clear the

That was before the establishment of the Center market, in its day the most attractive place of its kind in the entire country. Center market was erected by a corporation which was chartered for the purpose, and the Federal government, which owns the land, leased the site to the corporation for a nominal rental. The cost of the building was absorbed by the receipts long ago and the charter has expired. For several years the market has been under the control of the Department of Agriculture, and the stalls are rented from June 1 of each year for a period not exceeding twelve months. The leases can be abrogated

The city planners have ordained that the Center market must go. B street is to be made into an attraclive boulevard, and the markets, together with the wholesale and retail stores in the neighborhood, will all be located in a less con spicuous, even though it may be a more incon-

The city planners will decide the new loca tion, probably at the October session, and the business firms who will be affected by the change are eagerly awaiting that decision in order that they, too, may make arrangements for removal as soon as they know where to go. The Post will be glad to receive the opinions of its readers as to the best location for the new market.

MOLLA TRIUMPHANT.

The combats of the lawn tennis courts are sometimes so epic in character that it would almost require the pen of a Homer to do justice to the chronicle of them and to set forth to full advantage the ebb and flow of the fortunes of the contenders. Magnificent victories have ere now been achieved when all seemed lost, but there is scarcely on record a more astounding example of what the will to win can do when it is backed up by courage that never falters and by skill that flashes out most brilliantly as difficulties and dangers present themselves in long array, than in the regaining of the championship by Mrs. Molla Mallory at Forest Hills on Monday last. The success was all the more remarkable in that it was achieved against an opponent who not only had recently downed Miss Wills, but also had invariably taken the measure of Molla herself on the numerous occasions on which they had previously met.

When the rivals came face to face in the last stage of the tournament, it was therefore quite in accordance with the fitness of things that Miss Ryan should be, as she was, a strong favorite and almost universally expected to set the final seal on her fame by annexing the trophy that goes with championship honors. At the outset it seemed as if this diagnosis of the situation was correct, for in the first set Miss Ryan rapidly went into a lead of 4 to 1, and took the set fairly easily by 6 to 4. By long, scorching, and accurate drives and a couple of dazzling volleys, Mrs. Mallory retorted in kind, and took the second set by the same score. In the third and deciding set the Norwegian-born girl seemed doomed, for she was hopelessly off stroke, and was led by 4 to 0. Then, however, she recovered, and, showing some of her best form, she made the set all square at four all. From that point on it was a struggle of titans, which finally ended in Molla's victory by a score of

WHAT THE FARMERS WANT.

Grand Master Taber, of the National Grange, has told the President what the members of the grange think of the agricultural situation, and what they want. Mr. Taber makes several important and suggestive statements:

1-Farmers must organize for a fuller development of cooperative marketing, production and handling of crops.

2-The farmer must himself do nine-tenths of the work of restoring agriculture to prewar conditions; the government should do the

3—The farmer is coming to realize the value of tariff protection for himself, but he wants tariff benefits when he has an exportable surplus.

4-Tariff schedules should maintain the domestic price of farm products, and a "surplus price" should be maintained when there is a surplus.

These observations stress the importance of agricultural organization and cooperation, which, after all, is the true remedy for the situation.'

The help that is to be asked of the governnent remains a matter of dispute and doubt. If it is "tariff benefits when there is a surplus," the question arises: How can a tariff be laid on exports, and how can Congress protect the farmer's surplus against world competition?

How can Congress maintain two tariff schedules, one for the domestic portion of the crop and another for the exported surplus, without fixing the price of both, and becoming responsible for those two prices?

This is a problem far beyond the province or jurisdiction of Congress. A tariff on imported farm products does not fix the price of imported products, or the portion of the domestic products consumed in this country or the portion exported. The tariff has nothing

It is through new and strange legislation, not tariff legislation, that Congress must act, if it is to guarantee a fixed price to the farmer on his surplus. No one has ever clearly shown how this can be done.

ANTITRUST CASES:

In reply to current criticism, Attorney General Sargent reports that the Department of Justice terminated more antitrust cases during have taken no part. But this year a serious the fiscal year ended June 30, 1926, than in effort is to be inaugurated to bring out the any other previous year. A vigorous effort was made to clear up an accumulation of old cases. The records show that out of 111 decrees obtained in civil cases, 67 were consent decrees.

The policy of the Department of Justice, as well as of the Federal Trade Commission under its hew rule, is to take a broad view of the situation and discriminate between what the late President Roosevelt called "good" and 'bad" trusts. The present policy of executive and judicial agencies of the government is to check evil tendencies without annoying or interfering needlessly with legitimate business.

It is not the function of government to re spond to the appeal of every "meddler" in legitimate business. It is the function of government, according to the modern and rationa rule, to regulate sanely and to prevent unlawful practices rather than to wait until crime has been committed. The government assumes that every business man and corporation is honest and law-abiding, unless there is evidence to the contrary.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS.

In deciding that it is outside his power to acquiesce in the purchase of park and playground sites at prices in excess of the assessed value, plus 25 per cent, Comptroller General McCarl interprets the statute as it must be

During the discussion of the District appropriations bill it was repeatedly pointed out that to incorporate the 25 per cent restriction would delay the work of acquiring park and playground sites. But knowledge of the fact that every foot of land available for such purposes is constantly increasing in value carried no weight with the members who were de termined to try in the District of Columbia such an experiment as had been found wanting in practically every municipality in the country.

Congress was deaf to the appeals of those who desire to see the parks extended and playgrounds provided while the necessary lands may be purchased at reasonable prices Comptroller General McCarl holds that neither through direct purchase nor through condemnation proceedings is there authority in the law to pay more than the assessed value, plus 25 per cent, for any tract of land that may be desired. In consequence of this ruling, against which there can be no deserved criticism, the program of park extension, involving the expenditure of about $450,000, can not proceed until Congress reverses itself and lifts the limit. In the meantime prices for the required lands are certain to advance, at least as much as enough to cover the amount of taxes which the present owners will be forced to pay before the corrective legislation can be enacted.

GOTHAM'S BALLOT REFORM.

Tammany will have to establish a new school this fall in the boroughs of Manhattan and Brooklyn. Just as the great city of New York was the last in North America to abolish the horse-drawn street car, so it has fought off the substitution of the voting machine for the paper ballot after every other municipality in the State, and nearly every rural township, had adopted the voting machine.

At last one-third of the voting precincts of Manhattan, and about the same proportion of those of Brooklyn, are to use the machines in November. The "leaders" of the various precincts will have to instruct their forces in the use of the devices, for the adoption of mechanical voting is an absolute innovation on the islands which form the metropolis. Any "hick" from Chautauqua, Warren or any other county in the "sticks" could give instructions to the "knowalls" of Fourteenth street, but they will probably learn the trick without calling for help from "up-State." It may be that the politicians of the metropolis fear that they may have more difficulty in which are absolutely secret are substituted for the paper method of voting, which can be traced in spite of the law and the vigilance of "watchers" by the men of New York who know every trick in the political game. that would account for the persistence of the long fight against the voting machine.

It has caused general surprise to all who follow every important election that while the returns from the most isolated rural precincts of New York can be, and are, recorded and published within 24 hours after the polls close, it frequently happens that returns from the big city are delayed for days. The adoption of the voting machine will correct this for the unlocking of the mechanical boxes gives the tabulated returns of each precinct instantaneously and makes tampering with the returns impossible.

PRODUCTION OF COTTON.

A consolidated report of the Departments of Commerce and Agriculture shows that the 1926 crop of cotton of the United States will be about 15,248,000 bales (500 pounds gross weight) upon the 48.898.000 acres in cultivation on June 25. This is 373,000 bales below the estimate of August 1. Production in 1925 was 16,103,679 bales, and in 1924, 13,627,000 bales.

The crop has faced unusually adverse conditions during the last few weeks. Too much rain has increased the growth of the boll weevil and other insects.

The estimate shows that Texas has the argest area in cultivation, some 18,948,000 acres. Oklahoma about 5,160,000 acres, and Georgia about 4,028,000 acres. Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas have about 3,000,000 acres each. North Carolina and South Carolina about 2,000,000 acres each. Deducting abandoned areas, the net area cultivated is about 47,153,000 acres.

The bureau of economics reports that for eign crops this year will be less than last These domestic and foreign figures indicate a higher price for cotton in the near future.

GETTING OUT THE VOTE.

The failure of American voters to exercise the right of franchise has grown to be almost a national scandal. Scarcely 50 per cent of those who are entitled to participate in the elections care to take the trouble to record their preferences at the polls. Instead they appear to be satisfied to exercise the inalienable right of every American citizen to growl at the faults of omission and commission of the law-making bodies in whose selection they vote. This movement is not partisan in any degree. It is being started and pushed for ward by several organizations who mean busi-

The National League of Women Voters has begun a propaganda throughout the country in which every woman to whom the right of franchise has been granted through the nineteenth amendment is urged to exercise that right and to forget to worry over the fact that to vote she must tell her age. The fact that the women of the country have the privilege for which their sisters fought so strenuously should be appreciated to its full extent, it is pointed out, and the way to show appreciation is to go to the polls and "vote just like a man."

The American Legion is another organiza tion which is committed to the cause of "a full vote and a fair count." The men who wore the khaki to help make the world safe for democracy have come to the conclusion that democracy isn't safe so long as the electorate shows indifference on election day. The legion will begin a nation-wide campaign next month with the object of "getting out the vote."

The legionnaires don't "care a cootle" how ou mark your ballot or which handle of the oting machine you pull down so long as you vote. Democrats and Republicans are all one to them. "Get out the vote" is the slogan of the legion in the year 1926, and as that slogan harmonizes perfectly with the plans of the enfranchised "female of the species," the result should be a greater percentage of ballots cast among those entitled to vote than has heretofore been recorded, even though this is not a presidential year.

It seems odd when Congress isn't in session to see people working for money instead of howling for an appropriation.

Long ago one-half the world didn't know how the other half lived. That was before the era of a dollar down.

Independence is fine, but if you don't care what people think of you they soon stop thinking of you at ali.

The good part of striving on and on to go around in 72 is that you'll still be going around at 72.

The Suicide of the Superior _By GLENN FRANK_

"In every society some qualities are valued and supposed to be admirable and good, and are selected and rewarded accordingly. Hence the lucky possessors of these qualities are highly remunerated and enabled to rise in the social scale. "Social promotion is thus the reward of whatever merits a society chooses to recognize.

"But this reward of ability is also its capital punishment.

"For as it rises it passes from a social region in which the birth rate is relatively high and the prospects of parentage are comparatively good to others where the birth-rate gets lower and lower.

"The higher it gets, therefore, the more it tends to be sterilized. "Thus the particular kind of ability a society recognizes, the cream the society wants, is always rising to the top; but when it gets there it is always being skimmed off, and cast away.

COLD BLOCKS SWIMMERS

Dover, Aug. 24 (By A. P.) .- The English channel swimming season s practically ended. The many failures yesterday, two of them by American girls, Miss Barrett and Miss Cannon, in the final rush of the season for channel honors marked the end.

Newark dancing teacher, glided over the ballroom of the Waldorf-Astoria in a demonstration of the new dance before delegates to the first joint convention of the Inter national and American National Associations of Masters of Dancing. She said the dance was "without the vulgarity of the Charleston and Ned Wayburn, instructor of stage dancing, defended the Charleston.

COOLIDGE FAVORS PLANS TO RE-FORM FEDERAL BUREAUS

Will Support Reorganization of All Departments as Aid to Economy.

MESSAGE TO CONGRESS MAY REVIVE PROPOSALS

Opposition Among Legislators Makes Authorization Unlikely at Short Session.

By WILLIAM P. HELM, Jr.

A general rearrangement of Federal bureaus and departments is contemplated by President Coolidge as a further move to reduce governmental expenses. If possible, the President would like to see the re-President would like to see the reorganization made effective the coming fiscal year. As Congress would have to authorize the regrouping, however, the President be considering now the advisability of emphasizing the necessity of reorganization in his message to Congress early in December.

organization in his message to Congress early in December.

Reorganization of the governmental departments is an old proposal, having been inaugurated, in the present instance, by Warren Harding while President-elect. Mr. Harding advocated, among other things, the consolidation of the War and Navy departments in a single department of national defense. When he became President he took steps to put the plan into effect. A joint congressional committee on reor-

Birth Rate Declines. Deaths Increase Here

The birth rate declined and the death rate increased in the calendar year 1925 in the Distriet, according to figures com-piled yesterday by Dr. William C. Fowler, health officer.

In 1924 there were 13.46 deaths and 19.22 births per 1,000 of population. Deaths numbered 14.09 and births 18.42 in 1925.

Search for a cause for the in creasing death rate yielded the first impression that it was due to an increase of mortal organic ailments. This was exploded when it was discovered that a 57 per cent increase in deaths of that nature and corresponding decreases in other types of mortality, followed re classification of causes of deaths by the United States bureau of the census, whereby deaths formerly not so credited are now attributed to heart disease.

ganization was appointed and a business expert, selected by Mr Harding, was made chairman.

A survey was undertaken and recommendations were made, but they aroused violent opposition in certain official and unofficial quarters, largely because it was feared that reorganization along the lines proposed ganization along the lines proposed would increase governmental red tape and expense, rather than diminish them. At least, such was the claim on the part of opponents to the plan. For four years the program has been kept alive in congressional pigeonholes, having been taken out for airing and dusting occasionally, but robody in authority casionally, but nobody in authority seemed to rally around to put it over, so it has got nowhere up to apparently further appreciable reduction of Federal expense can not be made on the present method of running the government. Hence resurrection morning for reorganization appears to be at hand. The United States government as a going concern must have a shakeup of some sort and its model affairs along somewhat different lines, it would appear, if expenditures are to be cut much more within the next ten years. duction of Federal expense can not Hoover Favors Proposal.

Governmental functions have become so interwoven, one with another, during the long period of growth and development that any rearrangement of magnitude would involve almost a complete makingover of the executive departments and a general redistribution of duties. The effect on all doing business with the government would be somewhat bewildering for a time unless the new plan were adopted gradually. Hence, there is strong opposition to any complete governmental reorganization on the part of many members of Congress.

This backbone of opposition is so strong that it is extremely doubtful if the President could break it, even if he desired to do so, in a short session of Congress, such as the next one, beginning in December.
That is one of the factors in the situation that impels the President to consider carefully the proposal to advocate strongly reorganization at the next session Among the President's advisers, ecretary Hoover, taking the busi-ess man's viewpoint, has been conspicuous in advocating such rearrangements as promised greater efficiency and economy in operation. Mr. Hoover is regarded as responsible for the start in reorganization which, almost unnoticed, already has actually been made. The patent office, the bureau of mines and part of the functions of the geological survey, all of which were under the jurisdiction of the Interior Department when Harding was inaugurated, have been reorganized and placed under the Secretary of Commerce. picuous in advocating such rear

The old plan of reorganization which soon is to be revived in modified form, also included the creation of a new governmental department of welfare. It was the plan to give this department an assignment of educational work and to distribute through it about $100.000,000 a year to the States as Federal aid for education. It is dormant at the present time, but this feature of reorganization, which seemingly promised to expand, rather than contract, governmental expense, incurred strong opposition for the entire reorganization geheme.

In view of the general opposition to the existing scheme for reorganization. It is regarded as likely that the program will be modified extensively, before the President urges Congress to adopt it.

DISTRICT MUST REFUND GAS TAX TO POSTOFFICE

Although the ruling referred only to the gasoline tax collected here from the Postoffice Department, payment of which has been protested monthly by Postmaster Mooney, it is taken to mean that no tax may be paid by the Federal government on all the thousands of gallons of gasoline used in its cars

On this basis, a survey is now being conducted in the District building to determine how much of the tax collected will have to be paid back to the government establishments. The total, it is known, will be large enough to make a sizable reduction in the revenue which the District had planned to use for highway development.

In his decision, the comptroller general upheld a recent ruling that the District may tax the operators of government owned vehicles the regular $3 for drivers' permits. The gain to the District in this tax would not, however, aid much in offsetting its loss in gas tax.

The ruling was based on the fact that the tax in the District is a direct tax on the consumer. In a number of States the government must pay gasoline tax because in those instances it is construed as being a tax upon the dealer for doing business and not a tax on the

12 NEW HALL-MILLS WITNESSES CALLED FOR BAIL HEARING

Widow's Brother and Cousin to Make New Freedom Appeal Tomorrow.

RESERVES TO UPHOLD PIG WOMAN'S STORY

Investigate the Charges That Money Was Used to Change Murder Testimony.

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 24 (By A P.) .- The State today had ready twelve new witnesses to add to the testimony adduced at the commitment hearing before County Judge Cleary of Henry Carpender and Willie Stevens, charged with the marder of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Inspector Underwood, of the Jersey City police, in making this announcement, said the witnesses would not be called unless Suprem Court Justice Charles W. Parker considered the evidence to be presented before him Thursday insufficient for the holding without bail of the pair.

Stevens and Carpender, brother and cousin, respectively, of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the Frances Stevens Hall, widow of the slain clergyman, who is free in $15,000 on the same charge, failed yesterday in their move for temporary liberty when Chief Justice Gummere declined to act on a plea for admission of the two men on bail pending grand jury action.

Justice Parker, reached by telephone in Maine, informed Timothy Peiffer, associate defense counsel, that he will be here at 10 o'clock Thursday morning to hear the applications.

Methods used to combat the fix-

Methods used to combat the fixing of ball, Inspector Underwood said, would be determined by the procedure adopted by the defense. If a move is made by the defense to refule the testimony of Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," by placing on the stand Mrs. Nellie L. Russell, negress, Underwood said, witnesses would be produced who could prove that the latter was not home the night of September 14, 1922, when the murders were committed.

Mrs. Gibson is the State's star witness. She swore she was on the murder scene on the deserted Phillips farm and testified that the three principals now accused were near the crabapple tree on the night of the crime.

Mrs. Russell during the original investigation testified that Mrs. Gibson was talking to her in her home nearby that night.

Jersey City, N. J., Aug. 24 (By A. P.).—Rumors that witnesses in the revived Hail-Mills murder investigation had been tampered with and paid to change their testimonies were being investigated by Inspec-tor John J. The inspector made the announce-ment after a long conference with Special Assistant Attorney General Alexander Simpson, in charge for the State, and Commissioner of Public Safety John Beggmans. Underwood said he was running

His son, Albert, suspects his father has fied to the United States to avoid coming to a settlement with him and his brother, who are seeking to make the father divide his estate with their mother in Haverhill, the father's first wife. There is no suspicion whatever that the second wife, who was Mrs. Eleanor B. Phillips, of Milwaukee, died from other than natural causes.

Canton Has a Holiday Celebrating War's Start

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Shanghai, Aug. 24.-More han 40,000 persons held a mas meeting in Canton today to celebrate the beginning of the actual fighting with the northern forces for the mastery of the Yangtze valley, according to reports from Canton tonight. In addition, the Cantonese have declared a week's holiday, with government consent, for the purpose of support ing the anti-British boycott and agitation against Hongkong.

Foreigners interpret the celebration as an attempt to pacify the internal discord, but the Cantonese declare that the campaign against Marshal Wu Pe Fu and the northern militarists is synonymous with the struggle against the British and Japanese imperialism.

Gen. Sun Chuan Fang, com mander of the lower Yangtze provinces, declared martial law last night and is commandeering Chinese ships for the purpose o transporting troops to Kiangsi province against the southerners.

Sylvan Bass did his best to make a fight out of his match with Charley Barber. The latter claimed he was trying. Maybe he was. Bass got the decision for trying.

Paul Healey, better known as Dick Freary, of the Linworths, had a tough job with Freddy Engelert, a marine, said to have been in the ring for the first time. Healey earned the fifth, when, with considerable help from Nevers, they counted four times the decision. Young Toby and Billy Mitchell, 75-pounders, drew in the opener.

S TANLEY, besides being a spit-baller, which gives him an edge in view of the fact that the batters get so few chances at this style of delivery, has fine control and is generally coted a smart nicher. With rated a smart pitcher. With Marberry scheduled to become a regular starter of games, Bucky is figuring that this plan will be an ideal one.

Of course, it is a little early to make definite decisions for 1927 and Covey may spill the beans by starting off at full speed and hold-ing the pace throughout the year. If he does, well and good, but even if he does not, this will not be the whole answer to the relief problem, for the spit-baller can not work as often as Marberry. Stan figures,

In baseball, whether or not a team looks good, depends largely upon the manner in which its pitcher is performing. Yesterday, Alvin Crowder was in great form and despite some sloppy fielding at times, the Nationals looked like a Washington.... 1 2 0 0 4 2 0 0 x—9 Hits...... 1 2 0 0 4 2 2 1 x—12

Jack Turner, popular local middleweight, knocked out Willie Curry, of Philadelphia, in the fifth round and gave the fans the surprise of the evening when he turned the trick. His first appearance in the ring for more than a

COLLYER SERVES BOTANIC AS CHOICE AT SARATOGA

ATHER closer. Into thy shell-like ear I would pour a tale. Or as Sophie Glutz once remarked—"You know Noah didn't wait for the flood." So it is with yours truly. I gone and done it and the big noise is none other than BOTANIC in the opening dash out at Saratoga. Personally this looks like the spot to kill the favorite "goose." RED WINGFIELD and old LEATHERWOOD for what is left. The latter shipped extra well.

JOLLY ROGER a superior mud-der is sent "over the sticks" and from the information at hand, the "suicide club" is down hook, line and sinker. Nice game and rather spectacular r-a-w-t-h-e-r. HAND-SOME is a "two timer" and figures close up with HECKLE holding the balance safe.

By the way this trick ERNE also found some over night support. You have the info for what it is worth.

SUN SWEEPER is to be taken out of the vat today in the third.

SANS TERRE is the logical choice but the more I see of this game, the more firmly convinced am I "this thing dough talks mightly loudly even internationally." No, LADDIE. The latter shows improvement with every start.

PRATTLE looks like a set up in the fifth—though they may send CALUMET back.

Out at Lincoln field, where we gave you four more yesterday, the real cash getter is none other than our old friend, SANDY HATCH, which comes back to the races fit as the proverbial fiddle. Here's hoping Freddie Jaggers takes down a hatful—by the way, Freddie—Pittsburgh, Louisville and Cincinnati were "loaded" on MIDWEST-ERN. HOT TIME is the trick Phil Chian—pardon Monsieur, I mean "Col." cut loose and had his agents down from Maine to California—as he did on Jane Swift and Col. Ashmesde. This thing is fast as a bullet. CHONASLEE is right bang up hut I don't believe she can give away this weight.

SERGEANT SETH won very impressively Saturday and a repeater of that will make him a handy winner. I understand "Handsome Ben" is down we wekkum.

Five of the outstanding players who were most instrumental in putting Georgetown well up in the ranks of Eastern college football last fall have played their last games. That the other half dozen regulars have returned or will return is cheering, of course, but it is not consoling for Little to picture the team he will trot on the field for the first game of the season with Tony Plansky, Jack Haggerty, Lou Metzger, Heine Jawish and George Murtagh nowhere in sight. Tennis champions from each of the city playgrounds will play player and this morning. The matches will be played in four sections and will be run off on courts which are conveniently located for the teams which participate.

According to Miss Maude Parker, of the municipal playground department, arrangements will be made for the use of a centrally located court when the semifinals and finals are reached. There is always much interest in this yearly affair which develops many players who graduate into the District Women's league. The players have been used to the start today.

NET EVENT NEXT WEEK.

TANK MEET POSTPONED. The interplayground swimming meet was once again postponed when the skies opened up yester-day morning. Miss Maude Parker, director of girls' activities, states that the event will be held on Tues-day, August 31, in the Georgetown Participants in this meet are girls who won first, second and third places in the preliminary meets two weeks ago at Georgetown and Rosedale playground tanks. Georgetown has held the city title two years and in the event that they win next week will gain permanent possession of the cup.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Aug. 24.—A
Chestnut filly was led into the auction ring tonight with the year's total just $5,000 short of the previous record for total sales of $1,866,725 set last year, and when she was led out the figures were $10,00 above last year's record.

They were doomed to disappoint ment however, for the twenty head consigned brought only $38,200 or $1,810 a head and it was not until the last one, a colt by Tea Caddy-Yvette, that the $5,000 mark was topped. Paul Comnolly bought him for $6,000 and later sold him at private terms to William Shea. The Idle Hour Stock Farm and R.

Then a chestnut colt by North Star III, out of Biscuit Tortoni, was knocked down to the Greentree Stable for $7,000, after R. A. Post Playground Cup Winner to Be Decided Today.

AIN again prevented the completion of the interplayground field and track meet yesterday but before the downpour five events were finished and another brought to its final stages. Georgetown playground took the lead from Plaza which jumped to the front on the first day of the general George. the first day of the games. George-town leads by ½ point having amassed 23 points to 22½ gathered by Plaza.

M. Nathanson broke a record established by him last year in the 100-pound class running broad jump. In 1925 he jumped 16 feet 1 inch while yesterday he leaped 17 feet 9 inches. Nathanson weighed but 89 pounds last summer he made his first record breaking jump.

The meet will be completed today unless rain interferes and a glance at the point scores indicates the closeness of competition. Cooke is third with 17 points and Columbia road follows closely with 13½. Garfield is not too far behind to upset the leaders as it's total of eleven points prove. Other point scorers are Henry, 9; Burroughs, 4; Hayes, 3; Bloomingdale, 1 and Happy Hollow, 1.

PRESENT indications point P to a duel of relay teams deciding the winner of the meet. Of the eight events remeet... Of the eight events re-maining five are relays and un-doubtedly the team having the strongest relay teams will cop The Washington Post cup, of-fered for the winning team.

Heats for the 70-pound class, 360-yard relay were run off before the rain started yesterday and Plaza, Ludlow, Cooke and Brookland qualified teams for the finals. Plaza and Cooke have a ray of hope in the fact that they have qualified a team in this event and the Georgetown enter failed to the Georgetown entry failed to place.

Probably the feature of today's program will be the unlimited 880-yard relay, the last event of the meet. Plaza, Georgetown, Dennison, Cooke, Columbia Road, Hayes and Brookland are known to have strong teams entered in this feature and there are others who promise strong quartets. FEAR OF HIGHER MONEY WEAKENS BOND PRICES

Polish Government 8s of 1950 in Good Demand; Rails Become Irregular.

U. S. ISSUES EASE OFF

New York, Aug. 24 (By the Associated Press) .- Bond prices drifted lower today in reflection of growing uneasiness over the possibility of a further stiffening of money rates. Despite the lack of investment interest in listed securities, prompt oversubscription was reported of the $5,000,000 note issue of the Companía Cubana, and announcement was made that $10,500,000 Interstate Natural Gas Co. 10-year 6 percent bonds, recently offered at 105, had all been sold. Heavy buying of Polish government 8s of 1950, which advanced over a point to 88%, was one of the few features in the foreign list. Trading in Mexican government issues, quieted down on reports that a deadlock had been reached in the negotiations between governmental rates. Despite the lack of invest-negotiations between governmental and church officials in their effort and church officials in their effort to come to an agreement on the new church regulations. French issues were unaffected by the announcement that the French government had obtained a 60,000,000 franc loan in Switzerland.

Railroad liens pointed upward in the early trading on the publication of some excellent July earnings reports, but irregularity developed later. Chesapeake & Ohio convertible 5s and Seaboard Air Line 6s maintained their early gains of a point or so, but heaviness developed in Chicago and Eastern 6s, Boston and New York 4s. "Soo" 4s of 1938 and a few others. and a few others.

Despite the sharp increase in earnings being reported by most of the larger operating and holding companies, public utilities developed several points of weakness. Brooklyn Union 5½s, scoring an extreme loss of 3 points, only part of which was recovered, while Montana Power 5s of 1943 yielded a point on a few sales. American Writing Paper 6s responded to the announcement that the reorganization plan had been made operative by advancing over a point.

United States government issues were a shade easier. Widespread interest was manifested in bond circles over the outcome of the meeting of the Federal Reserve Bank advisory council in Washington this week.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Aug. 24 (By A. P.).—
Bulliah views of coming crop prospects were promoted by unfavorable weather reports in the cotton market today, but after selling 17.55@17.97 for December contracts, or 28 points net higher and 189 points above the recent low level, prices reacted under realizing. December closed at 17.73, the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 4 points higher was accordance.

realizing. December closed at 17.73, the general market closing barely steady, net unchanged to 4 points higher.

There was considerable realizing at the start, and after opening steady at an advance of 3 points to a decline of 2 points, active months sold about 1 to 9 points net lower in the first few minutes. Bullish sentiment created by yesterday's crop figures was apparent by increased buying on the setback, however, and the market soon firmed up again, although it met considerable realizing on the advances.

Trade buying, together with a broadening commission house demand, became rather more active on the showing of the detailed weather reports indicating further rains at many points in Texas and Oklahoma, while there also was considerable anxiety over the tropical storm situation. This was reported in the gulf, with a probability that it would reach the gulf coast between Burrwood, I.a., and Galveston late tonight or early tomorrow, and no doubt contributed to the advance which carried October contracts up to 17.94 and January to 18.03, net advances of 25 to 29 points on active positions and new high ground for the movement.

Realizing became heavier around the 18-cent level, and final quotations showed reactions of 24 to 26 points from the best.

The opinion was expressed in some quarters here that owing to the high harometer in the West the course of the gulf storm might change and that it would pass through Louisiana rather than extend into the interior of Texas.

Wall street was a seller late in the afternoon, and the inclination to take it would pass through Louislana rather than extend into the interior of Texas.

Wall street was a seller late in the afternoon, and the inclination to take profits on long contracts in cotton probably was increased by the late weakness of the stock market.

Private cables reported covering and trade buying in Liverpool, but said business in cloth and yarns was restricted by the advance.

Exports for the day, 6,932, making 237,111 so far this season. Port receipts, 25,788. United States port stocks, 602,050.

"It was ascertained that 62 trees were killed by illuminating gas, 33 by salt water, 90 by abnormal moisture, 51 by being filled around. 23 by being girdled, 159 by drought, 6 by insects, 5 by root mutila-tion, nine by oil, and deaths of 589 were unexplained.

"Of the total number removed, 1,926 stood at the curb line, 142 in parkings, 87 in sidewalks, 33 in alleys and 9 in roadways."
